

New Class Names for 2018

From September, the classes at BPS will be known by class names, rather than by the names of the teachers. This is largely because we are having a variety of job sharing arrangements and it can sometimes become a little complicated – particularly when a teacher is teaching in more than one class! During the transition sessions, children were asked to suggest themes for the classes and the staff have since voted for the ones that they'd like. Unsurprisingly, as we're a school full of readers, the children chose authors as their theme and we then selected age-appropriate classic choices!
