Create
Be a spy!

1 Create a Spy Profile

Design a character profile for a fictional WWII spy. Include:

- Name and code name
- Nationality and background
- Secret mission(s)
- Disguise and gadgets used
- A drawing or sketch of them in action

What makes them a good spy?

2 Soundtrack of a Spy

Research music from the 1940s and create a spy-themed playlist that might have been used to set the mood for a spy film or mission. Choose at least 3 tracks and explain:

- Why they suit the theme.
- What emotions or suspense they create.

Think jazz, big band, suspense, drama...

3 Code Breaker Challenge

Research and create a simple cipher code (e.g., Caesar cipher).

- Write a secret message using your code.
- Ask a classmate or family member to decode it.
- Explain how and why codes were important in WWII.

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
+3
DEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZABC

Can you decode it?

4 Invisible Ink Investigation

Try making invisible ink at home using lemon juice or milk.

- Write a hidden message.
- Reveal it using a heat source (with adult supervision!).
- Write a short explanation of the science behind it.

Heat reveals the message!

Secret message...

6 Spy Map

Create a map of Europe during WWII and plot key locations linked to spy missions (e.g., SOE bases, escape routes, coded radio signals).

- Add facts or labels about what happened at each place.

Explore the secrets of Europe...

7 Spy Interview

Write and perform (or record) a short interview with a WWII spy (real or fictional, like Nancy Wake or a made-up character).

- Prepare at least 5 questions and answers.

Example questions:

- What was your mission?
- What was the most dangerous moment?
- How did you stay hidden?
- Who helped you?
- Would you do it again?

Be curious... ask the right questions!
